Celebrating Culture - Dreaming Stories

Read “The Rainbow Serpent” (or another Dreaming Story from your local area) as a class. Explore and celebrate the story by working through the Multiple Intelligence activities outlined in the table below. Some ideas for both lower and upper primary students have been provided.

These activities would be best completed by working with a local Indigenous community member.

Word Intelligence	Logic and Maths Intelligence	Space and Vision Intelligence	Body Intelligence
Talk to a friend about your favourite parts of the story	Cut out the story and sequence the events	Draw a story map which visually illustrates the story	Act out the movements of the animals in the story
Write in your own words what happened in the Dreaming Story	Compare and contrast the story to another dreaming story	Make a board game which is based on the story	Retell the story through interpretive dance
Music Intelligence	People Intelligence	Self-Intelligence	Naturalist Intelligence
Use instruments to create a soundscape for the story	Work in a small group to act out a part of the story	Draw your favourite part of the story	Make a list of all the natural features in the story
Write a rap or song which retells the story	Plan a performance of the story, including props and costumes	Write a reflective journal entry about the story	Research one of the animals from the story
